

Graham White, Managing Director, Garrad Hassan Pacific Pty Ltd

Graham White is a mechanical engineer and is the Managing Director of Garrad Hassan for Australasia, the South Pacific and Southeast Asia. Graham has Engineering Degrees from Carleton University in Canada and the University of Western Australia.

Graham has 35 years of experience in various energy technologies and has 15 years experience in the wind energy industry. He has worked on projects throughout Australasia, Asia, Africa and Canada. He has coordinated due diligence work on many wind farms and has experience advising owners and investors on a number of large projects.

Graham has been involved with R&D for a variety of other power plant. Graham has been involved with renewable energy industry associations in Australia and New Zealand for over twenty years and has written extensively on renewable energy topics.