

Matt McKenzie, General Manager, Transmission & Distribution – Asia, GE Energy

Matt transferred to GE Energy from GE Money in January 2009. He is responsible for GE Energy's operations in the Transmission and Distribution sector for the Rest of Asia Region (excludes China and India). Matt Joined GE in 2003 and spent six years with GE Money in various Sales Leadership and General Management positions.

Prior to joining GE he worked for General Motors Acceptance Corporation for 14 years in a range of senior commercial positions including Leadership roles across General Management, Sales, Risk and Business Development functions. During this time he led GMAC's market expansion activities in Indonesia, Thailand, India, Korea, China, South Africa and Korea. In total, Matt has more than 20 years leadership and commercial experience across different industry sectors.

Matt has a Bachelor of Science from La Trobe University majoring in Biochemistry and Masters of Business Administration from Swinburne University.